City workmen were disposing, by means of axes, this morning of dead trees in the city park. One rather large-sized maple tree was felled and a large branch of an elm tree, torn apart from the main trunk by the recent storm, was also disposed of.

The many admirers of Mary Pickford and other movie stars witnessed one of the finest film shows presented in Barre this fall when "Daddy Long Legs" was presented by the Park theatre Thursday and Friday evenings.

Miss Leona Lamb was a pleasing feature when she sang "Daddy Long Legs" at each show. Woodmen miscalculated the falling of a tree yesterday when endeavoring to fell a tree at the magnesia tail mines in Waterbury, and as a result a large tree broke down several of the large transmission wires of the Tenny Service company. Wires that were not molested were used to carry the current through to the Pioneer plant, but the transfer necessitated a shutdown between 8 and 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The repairmen then set to work making repairs and the work was completed late yesterday morning.

Light football practice is being kept up by the Goddard football team in hopes that it may be able to meet the Vermont "medics" on armistice day. The team is still in good form and very enthusiastic over meeting the "medics." The basketball squad will be large this year and it will be necessary to weed out the poorer players from the squad, as the gymnasium accommodations at the seminary are limited. Kezer, who suffered a broken shoulder in the Tosi academy and second team game, is still under the care of a physician.

Recent graduates of the nurses' training course at Heaton hospital in Montpelier, among whom are Miss Rose Hopkins, Miss Mary McCarthy, Miss Anna Engel and Miss Catherine Plis, plan to take the nurses' state board examinations next week. These will be given at the State House on Nov. 13 and 14. Already applications from a number of recent graduates from hospitals in various parts of the state have been received. "Blue" examinations are given semi-annually to enable all nurses to become registered.

The November number of the Monumental News contains a picture of the Rizzi memorial recently erected in Hope cemetery. The illustration of the memorial reads: "The Rizzi memorial erected in Hope cemetery, Barre, Vt., on the family lot of Stepheno Rizzi, of Rizzi Bros., the well-known granite firm. Needless to say, it is a fine specimen of carving and cutting in Barre granite, well worthy to represent the high standard of craftsmanship of the house of Rizzi. The work is executed in Wells-Lamson stock and is of the following dimensions: 7-6x2-8x1-0; 2d base, 6-2x1-8x0-8; die, 5-6x1-2x5-3." On the face of the die large Roman letters are embossed with two delicately carved branches impending just over the lettering.

A few of the pessimistic weather prophets are suffering a slight uneasiness at the sight of the first snow which still lingers. When referring back to weather diaries of former years they note that just such a similar storm introduced that long-to-be-remembered winter of 1917. It is on this fact chiefly that they bank their prophetic of the season being near at hand.

their own representatives and present their grievances and that they should have been heard."

"Testimony before the committee, the report said, sustained the contention of the steel companies that a large proportion of the strikers are foreigners and non-English-speaking people."

Touching on the subject of radicalism in the strike, the report said: "The committee is of the opinion that the American Federation of Labor has made a serious mistake and has lost much favorable public opinion by permitting the leadership of this strike movement to pass into the hands of those who have heretofore entertained the most radical and dangerous doctrines."

"Such men," said the report, alluding to Foster and Margolis, "are dangerous to the country, and they are dangerous to the cause of union labor. It is unfair for men who may be struggling for their rights to be represented by such leaders. If Mr. Foster has the real interest of the laboring man at heart, he should remove himself from any leadership. If he will not remove himself from leadership, the American Federation of Labor should purge itself of such leadership in order to sustain the confidence the country has in it under the leadership of Mr. Gompers."

Dealing tentatively with the charges by strikers that the civil authorities and courts of western Pennsylvania were controlled by the steel companies against them, the report said:

"The action in many cases has been such as to lead one side of this controversy to the belief that officers of the law were acting on the side of the steel company. Such a condition is unfortunate and helps to breed discontent. As long as officers are human beings, they will make mistakes. They should be very careful that, in maintaining the majesty and dignity of the law, they do nothing to bring it into disrepute."

In regard to the suppression of public meetings in the strike zones, the committee observed that "the suppression of frank discussion only served to accentuate a bad situation. Officers ought not to be permitted to prevent men from meeting to talk over their grievances and presenting to men their arguments in favor of joining the union."

Mrs. Jason Johnson, one of the members of the local W. R. C. who attended the convention in Montpelier on the 5th, slipped and fell on the sidewalk in front of the G. A. R. hall at the close of the meeting, shaking her up so that after her return a physician was called and she remained in bed the next day. It is hoped that the injury will not be serious or lasting.

It will be recalled that Raymond B. Waldo and family started Sept. 8 in his Ford for a trip across the continent to his former home in California. He has been heard from at various points along the way, and a card written the 28th ult. to his uncle, A. M. Goodrich, brought word that he had the day before crossed the Colorado river and was in California. At that time he had covered 3,000 miles.

Dexter G. Baker, a former townsman and for some time past a conductor on Pullman cars with headquarters in New York City, was injured in a train wreck Oct. 12 at a point about 40 miles out of St. Louis, Mo. His train was making about 50 miles an hour, when a car wheel broke, derailing the last six cars of the train. No one was killed, but a large number were injured. Conductor Baker fared worse than most, having three ribs broken, back and arm injured and knees and ankles bruised. He was in a hospital for a time and has only a short time ago been able to return to his run.
